Tory campaigner calls on PM to aid Calais refugees

• Liam Walker in the 'Calais Jungle' last weekend

By Alex Ballinger

AS a French court ruled more than 1,000 desperate migrants and refugees can be forced out of the 'Calais Jungle' a Witney Conservative Party campaigner has called on the Prime Minister to help people trapped in the camp.

Former chairman of the town's Conservative youth wing, Liam Walker, penned an open letter to David Cameron after visiting the camps last weekend with Witney aid group Crying out for Calais.

More than 5,000 people are living in the camp across the English Channel with many hoping to start a new life in Britain after being displaced by famine and conflict.

In his letter Mr Walker said: "I think that you should do our country a great justice and welcome the unaccompanied children of the camp in Calais into the United Kingdom.

"Let's now truly lead the way and work with the French authorities to ensure no more children risk their lives, that no more people have their homes in the camp destroyed without other accommodation being provided. I entered the camp knowing very little about the place and just how serious the crisis there is.

"On Sunday I witnessed conditions that I have never in my life seen before, but despite all the difficulties each person has in their own lives they were all so welcoming to us."

Crying out for Calais was set up by Witney couple Andy and Hannah Bailey last year to try and support those living in appalling conditions in the camps.

Newborn baby found dead on Oxford path

AN 'urgent' appeal to trace the mum of a newborn baby found dead with its umbilical cord still attached on an Oxford footpath was released by police on Tuesday.

In a media briefing Oxford's LPA Commander Supt Christian Bunt said the baby found on a footpath by Edgeway Road in Marston on Monday was no more than a few days old.

But he admitted police are still in the dark about who the baby and it's mum are.

By Loughlan Campbell

Supt Bunt also said officers still do not know the gender of the baby, and refused to deny reports that the baby had been found in a black bag.

He said: "This is a very tragic situation and I understand that she is going to be extremely frightened but we need to make sure that she gets the medical support that she needs.

"We are appealing today to friends, family, the local community and to anyone that might have an inkling about who this mother might be."

A medical examination of the baby is due to take place today.

The baby was found at 9.20am by a member of the public, who called the police.

Supt Bunt added: "Our priority right now is to try and locate the mother and give her the support that she needs.

"Clearly this was a very tragic and difficult situation for everyone involved and the local community have got a role to play in this investigation.

"Our initial inspection found that the umbilical cord was still attached to the baby. This means there could be quite serious health implications for the mother and she is going to need to see a doctor urgently."

A scene watch remains in place at Edgeway Road and officers are expected to continue to remain on the scene in the coming days.

Officers will be conducting door knocks in the area over the next few days.

The baby's mum is being asked to ring 0740911038 to seek help.

Anyone else with any information is asked to call police on the usual 24-hour Thames Valley Police enquiry centre on 101.

Winning Oxford Station design revealed

FUTURISTIC arched designs of Oxford Station have been picked as residents' favourite to be used as the model for its £75 million renovation.

The designs by London-based architects AHR were announced by Oxford City Council on Tuesday as the frontrunners of a public poll out of six, scooping 70 per cent of the votes and the title of 'people's favourite'.

A judging panel also picked AHR's designs alongside two other architect firms' designs as join winners; Wilkinson Eyre, and Allies and Morrison.

Elements of all three are to be merged to create the final drawings for the remodel of Oxford Station.

Leader of Oxford City Council Bob Price said: "Oxford deserves a new rail station and the station area is a key element in our regeneration of the West End.

"The selected designs for the new station are exciting and reflect a genuine 21st century style of architecture."

A judging panel of members from the city council, Network Rail, and Oxfordshire County Council said they picked AHR's for its rooftop restaurant idea, Wilkinson Eyre's for its car park and bus interchange design, and Allies and Morisson's for its simplicity.

OCC and the city council will now work with Government, Network Rail and private businesses to raise the funds for the revamp.

Work could start in 2020.

OXON: More than 92 per cent of children in Oxfordshire will be starting at their first-preference secondary school in September despite an increase in applications, Oxfordshire County Council has said.

This is an increase from 90.98 per cent last year, although the council received an extra 183 applications from children moving up from primary school.

The council also said in total 98.44 per cent of applicants were given a place at one of their preferred schools.

Motorbike theft

OXFORD: A motorbike was stolen from the back garden of a house in Oxford overnight on Monday.

The white KSR MOTO worx 125 was stolen from Dynham Place near Headington despite being locked and covered with a bike cover.

Offenders dragged the bike across the garden leaving marks on the ground.

Anyone with information is asked to call Thames Valley Police on 101.

Student funding

OXFORD: Oxford University has been given £13.5 million to fund students studying engineering and physical sciences.

Cash will go to doctoral places across the two subjects and the university also received a further £25m for investment in quantum technologies – a wing of physics and engineering.

The money was awarded by the Universities and Science Minister Jo Johnson as part of a £204m nationwide investment.

Oxford University announced the money had been awarded on Tuesday.

'Our roads are a disgrace': potholes spark safety fear

By Alex Ballinger

A WEST Oxfordshire resident and business owner has called on county leaders to do more to fix potholes.

Kevin Rose, who lives in Carterton, said he is concerned for the safety of road users and that potholes could cause accidents.

And his call has been backed by Mark Morrell from Brackley near Banbury, who has been dubbed Mr Pothole, for his campaigning to fix roads in West Oxfordshire and across the UK.

Mr Rose, 55, said: "You go through Carterton and there are potholes everywhere. The roads are a nightmare. It gets on my nerves.

"We pay our tax and business rates and everything and we're getting less and less for it.

"The one thing I say to everybody is our cars have to have an MOT to be legal for the roads, but when does a road become unsafe for our cars? There must have been accidents caused in Oxfordshire by the poor roads."

Anti-pothole campaigner Mr Morrell visited Witney last August in an attempt to get Witney MP and Prime Minister David Cameron to address the issue.

The 55-year-old activist said: "I found some defects in the town centre by the war memorial.

"Witney is a lovely place, but we've got defects with curbs missing that have been missing for months.

"[The county council] are supposed to inspect the roads every 28 days. I don't think they were inspecting them when they should have been."

Mr Morrell, who started campaigning to fix potholes in May 2013, said he has seen £1 million invested in local roads due to his protests.

Mr Rose, who owns a shop in Witney took to Facebook on February 10 to voice his concerns. He posted: "Our roads are a disgrace! More pressure needs to be put on the Government [and] Oxfordshire County Council [OCC] Highways department." The post recieved 502 shares.

OCC spokesperson Emily Reed said: "How the council responds to each report is dependent on the location, size and risk the pothole poses to public safety."

Witney group gives aid to Calais camps

•From front page

Mr and Mrs Bailey and Mr Walker travelled to Calais by car leaving Witney at around 5am on Sunday and arriving back late that night.

French authorities started demolishing sections of the camp on Monday.

Hundreds of tents and shelters in the makeshift town by the French port will now be torn down after the decision by a court in Lille in northern France.

The move has been condemned by refugee and aid organisations including Citizens UK and Crying out for Calais. A European refugee crisis started last year when thousands of migrants and refugees made their way to the European Union seeking asylum, many of whom were displaced by the ongoing civil war in Syria.

Crying Out for Calais launched last August.

Mr and Mrs Bailey have so far visited the camp three times.

Mr Bailey, 25, said: "I would say I'm concerned [about the French courts decision].

"The ideal would be people are put up in a safe and healthy environment.

"I don't think the camps should exist. To me it shows there's a failing in society.

"But this is not the answer."

Mr Bailey added that he supported Mr Walker's letter and that Britain needs to more to help those in need.

He said: "We have an incredible heritage of UK aid affecting some of the most impoverished areas in the world.

"You cannot visit the camps in Calais and think this is not a humanitarian disaster."

West Oxfordshire District Council last year pledged support for six refugee families and the first two families were given homes in the area in December 2015.

The second two families are to be set up in the district this month.

London-based charity Refugee Action carried out a survey at the Calais camps and found a total of 5,477 living there, with 3,455 living in the areas that are to be demolished.

Refugee Action also reported there are around 423 unaccompanied children in the camps.

Mr Cameron's office did not respond to the Guardian's request for comment.

World's best rescuers searching for missing

• Emergency services survey the scene with an Army robot

• Flowers and a hard hat by the entrance to Didcot Power Station

By Alex Ballinger

MORE than one week after part of Didcot Power Station collapsed rescue teams have still not been able to recover the bodies of three missing workers.

Emergency services are still trying to search the rubble after almost half the main building of Didcot A Power Station fell just after 4pm last Tuesday, killing one, burying three workers and injuring five others.

The fire service has said they fear the rest of the 10-storey 300m-long building could collapse at any time.

Thames Valley Police's assistant chief constable Scott Chilton said: "The recovery of the bodies and site investigation will be a very complex operation and I envisage it will be many, many weeks before it is completed.

"I know this makes it a particularly difficult time for the families involved, as they await the recoveries of their loved ones. Our priority remains to return them to their families and we continue to support the families as needed."

Police confirmed last week 53-year-old Mick Collings, from North Yorkshire, was killed in the collapse.

A total of 75 messages of condolences have been left in a Book of Remembrance in Didcot Civic Hall as residents offer their support to the stricken families.

Anne Johns wrote: "It is with deepest respect that I look upon the lives of those who have given so much to all of us in their often most dangerous work."

A touching tribute was also left by eight-year-old Harmony Dearlove who wrote: "I am sorry for you losing your loved ones."

Dozens of bouquets of flowers have also been left by the power station at Purchas Road.

One tribute read: "One in a Million. Goodnight Mick, we'll all miss you and that daft laugh and great big smile, rest in peace, all our love, Tony, Sarah and Zoe xxx."

Another said: "Mick, you will be sadly missed. 'Top bloke', rest in peace. Love from Sue, Debbie, Amber and Rhys."

Chief fire officer Dave Etheridge said: "Our thoughts very much continue to be with the families of those who have lost their lives and I would like to reassure them that we are doing all we can to return their loved ones to them.

"I believe the emergency service teams working on site are the best in the world and know they are using their experience and expertise to the limits."

All five of those injured in the collapse have now been released from hospital.

Chief executive of South Central Ambulance Service NHS Foundation Trust, Will Hancock, thanked staff who attended the incident. An ambulance team has remained on site since.

The workers were more than half way through a three year project to decommission and demolish the gas and coal-fired power station, which shut in March 2013.

The managing director of Coleman & Company demolition firm, Mark Coleman, said: "Nothing can prepare you for, nor are there words to express, our devastation at the events of last week. All our hearts go out to the family and friends of those who have died and are still, tragically, missing."

Tributes paid to Didcot Power Station victim

THE family of a biker killed after almost half the main building at Didcot A Power Station collapsed has released tributes to their 'much loved husband, father, granddad, son, brother and friend'.

Police named Michael Collings, otherwise known as 'Whitby Mick', as a victim of the disaster. Mr Collings, 53, was from the Cleveland area of North Yorkshire.

His family said: "He had a huge enthusiasm for life and will be remembered for his kind and friendly nature. He loved everyone and everyone loved him.

"Thank you to everyone who has sent their condolences and to Coleman & Company and the emergency services for their support."

A post-mortem examination gave a cause of death as multiple injuries.

Council leaders fight over powers to control Oxfordshire

War of words

By Alex Ballinger

LEADERS are embroiled in a row over who should keep power to govern Oxfordshire.

The dispute sparked when all Oxfordshire's four district councils and Oxford City Council announced they have united to apply to the Government this week to abolish overruling Oxfordshire County Council.

Vale of White Horse District Council leader Matthew Barber said the move – called 'Devolution' – would save in the region of tens of millions of pounds.

The Devolution bid has been backed by all Oxfordshire's six MPs and would mean Oxfordshire's highest authority – Oxfordshire County Council – would be dissolved.

But Oxfordshire County Council's leaders hit back claiming that if it took over the powers of the four district councils and Oxford City Council, it could save £32 million.

• OCC leader Ian Hudspeth

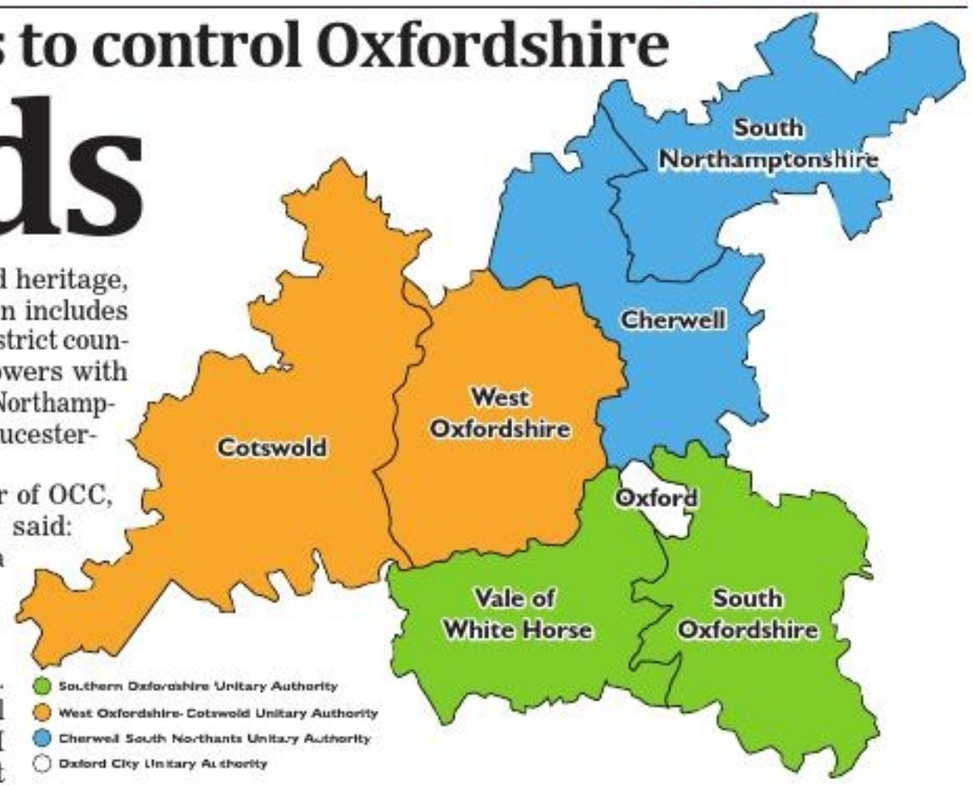
Speaking on behalf of the district and city councils, Matthew Barber said: "This Devolution deal is a fantastic opportunity for Oxfordshire and we believe we should do everything possible to secure much needed investment for the benefit of residents, businesses and communities."

The four district councils are Vale of White Horse District Council, South Oxfordshire District Council, West Oxfordshire District Council and Cherwell District Council – joined by Oxford City Council, which hold the same powers as the district councils.

Their Devolution plan aims to form four new 'unitary authorities' which would hold all of Oxfordshire's powers that are currently split between the county council and district/city councils.

The district/city councils have responsibilities including housing, recycling, and planning – including others. Whereas the county council has responsibilities including roads, health, and social services.

But OCC leaders warn their plan would erase the county's identity and heritage, because the plan includes Oxfordshire's district councils merging powers with other counties – Northamptonshire and Gloucestershire.



Deputy leader of OCC, Rodney Rose, said: "Oxfordshire is a historic county that is so much more than the sum of its parts. From a personal perspective, I would regret anything that saw that identity and its heritage disappear."

OCC's leader Ian Hudspeth said: "It could lead to an increase in bureaucracy.

"There would have to be a review of the boundaries.

"My ideal next step is we will sit down together and look at all the options on the table."

But Mr Barber said the Oxfordshire, Northamptonshire and Gloucestershire county boundaries would not be redrawn.

He added: "I think there's some fear mongering there. Oxfordshire as a county will remain."

OCC instead proposed four other options; one unitary council for Oxfordshire – similar to the format of OCC itself but with the district and city council powers, two unitary councils splitting Oxfordshire into two, three unitary councils splitting Oxfordshire in three, or four councils serving Gloucestershire, Northamptonshire and Oxfordshire – in the format proposed by the district and city councils.

In all cases costs could be cut by culling the number of councillors and officers.

Under the district council's Devolution bid there would be no public vote on which model is adopted, but there would be an online consultation.

The bid is due to be submitted this week, where it will then be approved or rejected based on the strength of the application.

Mr Barber also said the new model could be in place as early as 2018.

Cloudy2Clear Announce Which? Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Oxfordshire area from their local depots and manager James Miller agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Two districts in Oxfordshire up council tax fees as three others freeze them

RESIDENTS in Oxford and West Oxfordshire will have to pay more council tax from April 1 after increases were voted through for 2016 to 2017, but council tax fees for residents in Cherwell, Vale of White Horse and South Oxfordshire were frozen.

Oxford City Council is imposing a 1.99 per cent increase, which will mean band D homeowners will see their council tax rise from £278.80 to £284.52 – an annual increase of £5.72.

While West Oxfordshire District Council is imposing its first council tax increase since 2010 of six per cent, which will see Band D homeowners pay £86.63 – an annual increase of £5.

People living in a band D property in South Oxfordshire will continue to pay £111.24 for its services, after South Oxfordshire District Council froze its rates.

While Vale residents will continue to be charged £116.69, after Vale of White Horse District Council also froze its council tax fees.

Cherwell District Council froze tax at £123.50 for a Band D property.

Dad's emotional plea finding baby's killer

By Alex Ballinger

THE dad of murdered 20-month-old Sarah Dahane has pleaded with the public to help find her killer, as police offered a £10,000 reward for information that helps the investigation.

Nabil Dahane spoke of his heartache at a police press conference in Oxford during which detectives revealed they were hunting for Sarah's mum Angela Whitworth.

Whitworth fled the country to Kenya the day before Sarah's body was found at her home in Herald Way, Bicester, on May 16, 2013.

Mr Dahane said: "Sarah was so loved and loving. She loved everyone and everyone loved her back.

"She means the world to me. I'm still struggling to come to terms with it all. Perhaps seeing justice done for my daughter might help my pain."

A murder investigation was launched after Sarah's death, and police reissued an appeal to find Whitworth at their police headquarters in Kidlington this morning – almost three years after her death.

• Nabil Dahane with his daughter Sarah

Thames Valley Police (TVP) said they are working closely with the National Crime Agency and Kenya Police Service and are offering £10,000 to anyone who provides information that leads to an arrest or conviction in the case.

Police and Mr Dahane launched the re-appeal last Thursday.

Investigating officer, Detective Superintendent Ian Hunter, said: "Sarah was a happy and thriving young child and it is clear that she touched the lives of many during her short life.

"Sarah has not and will not be forgotten. This investigation has been lengthy and complex, and I will make every attempt to solve this very serious crime and that is why I'm asking for the public's help."

Officers travelled to Kenya last year as part of their enquiries and Det Supt Hunter said Kenyan police have been 'very supportive'.

A serious case review published by Oxfordshire Safeguarding Children Board in August 2014 into Sarah's death revealed Mr Dahane and Whitworth had been involved in a custody battle and that police and social services had been in touch with the family over domestic abuse allegations.

The review concluded the toddler's death could not have been prevented by the authorities.

A post mortem examination carried out at the time of Sarah's murder was unable to give a cause of her death, but noted there were no signs of sudden infant death, also known as 'cot death'.

The day before Sarah was found dead, Mr Dahane told police Whitworth had possibly fled the country because she had not taken Sarah to see her him as agreed.

Mr Dahane added: "This has changed my life – she was my life. I looked forward to every day.

"Now this has changed."

New road for town approved

BICESTER: Plans for a new road to replace the current Howes Lane have been approved by councillors.

The new road, which will run from the Middleton Stoney Road roundabout to join Lord's Lane via a tunnel under the railway line, is part of the 6,000 home eco town being built on farmland at North West Bicester.

Concerns were raised over plans to impose a 30mph speed limit – Oxfordshire county councillors said it formed part of the town's ring-road and should be faster.

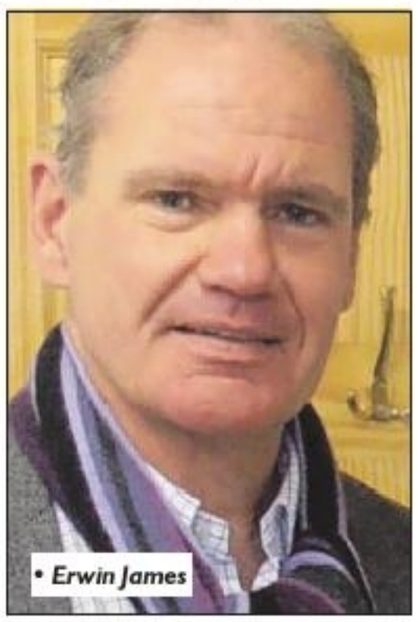
Convict turned writer to share story of how he turned life around



• Erwin James

By Jayne Smith

OVER the years a Bicester book shop has had some exciting guests – Darth Vader and EastEnders actress Pam St Clements to name two - but their latest guest is a first.

Because Erwin James is a convicted murderer who was jailed for life when he was just 27.

Thanks to the prison education system Mr James has turned his life around and is now a successful novelist and columnist for the Guardian newspaper and an advocate of The Literacy Trust, a charity that supports children and adults to improve reading and writing.

When Bicester bookshop owner Nigel French met the man and heard the words "I am a convicted murderer and I was sent to prison over 30 years ago, a wild man and barely literate" he knew Mr James was someone his customers would love to meet.

And next Thursday, March 10, at 7pm, Mr James will be at Coles Bookstore, Crown Walk, Bicester, to talk about his life, his new book Redeemable, and to answer questions.

Mr French was at an awards event in a secure prison hosted by the charity to show off inmates' achievements.

But it was the sheer "wow" of Mr James' story that had surprised the book shop owner.

In a chat before Mr James' presentation he simply said he wrote non-fiction.

But it was so much more. In prison Mr James learned to read and write, and completed a history degree. He also wrote to newspapers from his prison cell in a bid to share with the world the realities of prison life.

His efforts paid off because the letters were picked up by the Guardian newspaper and published over three years. The letters were eventually put together in Mr James' book 'A Life Inside – A Prisoner's Notebook'.

Mr French added: "I enjoyed my evening in prison, I enjoyed talking to a young man who had found joy in the ability to read, I enjoyed meeting Erwin James – all of my experiences that evening shone a light on some of the darkest shadows of life. I am delighted that Erwin has agreed to come to Cole's Books to tell us his story."

Tickets cost £5.

Nominations have opened for the 2016 Thame Town Awards, which is organised by the town council.

People can also nominate a person or group who has contributed "tirelessly" to the town in Voluntary Individual or Organisation award.

Also up for grabs is the Young Achiever, Service with a Smile and the Creative Arts Achievement awards.

The council said: "There are people all around Thame who help their neighbours, support local groups or go out of their way for others in their community.

"That is why, eight years ago, we launched Thame Town Awards as a way to recognise, thank and celebrate those special people who are working hard to make our community a safer, more vibrant and happier place to live."

The closing date for nominations is April 8.

For more information or to nominate someone call Thame Town Council on 01844 212 833 or view thametowncouncil.gov.uk

Firefighters tackle 30 straw bale fires

ABOUT 30 different straw bale fires were ignited in a field near Botley on Monday.

Firefighters fought to put out the flames to stop thick smoke from causing a major hazard to nearby drivers on the B4044.

The bales were lit separately in a field by Eynsham Road between Botley and Farmoor.

Firefighters were called to the blazes at about 5.20pm.

Incident commander, station manager Gary D'Anger said: "Whilst the likelihood of the fire spreading beyond the field was unlikely due to the cold and damp conditions these fires did cause a significant hazard to traffic using the B4044.

"This road is particularly busy during the rush hour and the potential for a road traffic collision caused by the dense smoke was always a possibility."

A crew from Rewley Road Fire Station were accompanied by 4x4 off-road vehicles to bring the fires under control.

Mr D'Anger added: "Fortunately our crews were on scene very quickly and we were able to deploy firefighters with specialist equipment to extinguish the blaze quickly and safely to prevent fire spread and avoid any unnecessary disruption.

"Drivers are reminded to always drive at a speed that the conditions and visibility allow whether due to weather conditions or incidents such as this."

By Alex Ballinger

OXFORDSHIRE has no shortage of admirable and inspiring charities, so narrowing the list down to just six was a tough task in itself.

Now we pass the baton over to you, our readers, for the near-impossible task of picking just one Oxfordshire Guardian Charity of the Year 2016.

Your choice can be based on anything; from personal experiences or friends' experiences, to liking the sound of the work they do.

Managing director of the Oxfordshire Guardian, Howard Taylor, said: "It is not an easy choice as all of them carry out commendable work for a variety of good causes in our area.

"You may know someone who relies upon one of the charities and therefore we encourage you to show your support by voting for them."

These charities help thousands of people across Oxfordshire and beyond in countless ways.

This is your chance to show your appreciation and support for these fantastic organistations and the people who rely on them.

Mr Taylor added: "We will work with them by promoting awareness of the charitable work they do and by supporting future events."

The Richmond Witney team welcome Mrs Sue Ramsden to her new home

What does retirement mean to you?

Just 18 months after work started at the new £30million Richmond retirement village at Witney in Oxfordshire, and the first residents have now begun to arrive.

The first phase of 30 Village Apartments are now all sold with the majority now occupied, and the second phase of 49 apartments, which are due to be completed later this year, are selling fast. The large one and two bedroom apartments include a fully fitted kitchen, lounge/dining room and en-suite bedroom.

"It's wonderful to welcome our first new residents to Witney", said Paddy Brice, managing director of Richmond Villages, "and we hope everyone settles in to their new home quickly and enjoys the new life this exciting and growing village community will be able to offer."

One of the first to arrive at Richmond Witney is Sue Ramsden who is already getting comfortable in her new home and meeting her new neighbours.

Sue, 67, worked as a personnel manager in the health service and finance sector, and after her husband died two years ago decided it was time to move from her large house at the end of a lane to an apartment where there was no garden or property to maintain.

Final phase Village Apartments at Richmond Witney

> "..Having now made the move, I am exceedingly glad that I didn't leave it until I was any older..."

"I was also looking for somewhere with some social activity and especially where I could swim," says Sue. "I'd never bought 'off-plan' before but was so convinced this was right for me, I have never had a moment's hesitation or regret.

"I am probably considered a bit young for this step but calculating the costs of moving house, I couldn't see the logic of making two moves over the next 10 - 20 years. Having now made the move, I am exceedingly glad that I didn't leave it until I was any older.

"Now I am beginning a new stage of my life. My main interests are dressmaking and fabric decoration, and I am now able to have a room and, hopefully, the time to devote more of my energies to that. I also enjoy travel, particularly to the Far East, and am a keen follower of cricket, so I am currently considering joining a tour which includes Test Match tickets when England next play in Australia or New Zealand. The prospect of being able to go on holiday and not have to cope with the garden when you return, or any problems with the house whilst you've been away is worth a lot.

"I feel thoroughly relaxed and comfortable with my decision and the surroundings. From living at the bottom of a lane and have no passing traffic to being able to see passing activity is a joy and makes me feel less isolated than I was. Having someone always on call is also very comforting," says Sue.

The new £30 million Richmond Witney, which will be fully open later this year, includes all the facilities that have made the other Richmond villages so popular, including a wellness spa with swimming pool and gym, hair and beauty salon, a library, IT room, terrace café, quality restaurant and garden bar, and all set within beautifully landscaped grounds with a bowling green and nature reserve beyond.

Cameras fitted to road signs

CCTV has been fitted in some roadwork signs across Oxfordshire to stop drivers ignoring them, after a series of road rage incidents and injuries in the last 18 months on county roads.

Oxfordshire County Council (OCC) and construction company Skanska launched the scheme.

Skanska operations manager Richard Lovewell, said: "There was an incident where an operative was hit by a car that ignored the stop sign.

"Thankfully he walked away with minor injuries, but it could have been a lot worse.

"There have also been incidents of motorists verbally abusing workers."

The boards are used by road workers to control traffic flow while works are carried out. The new signs are fitted with wide-angle automatic recording systems.

Scaled-back plan for homes in Woodstock

By Jayne Smith

SCALED-DOWN plans to build new homes on part of the Blenheim Palace estate have been unveiled.

Pye Homes want to build 280 homes, employment space, create new public recreation and play areas, as well as provide improved cycle and pedestrian links to Woodstock town centre.

It comes months after both Cherwell District and West Oxfordshire District Councillors rejected proposals to build 1,200 homes at the site.

Pye Homes said the new scheme was "evolving".

In a newsletter, the developer said: "Further to last year's refused planning application at Woodstock East, Blenheim Estate and Pye Homes have been working together on an alternative proposal for a significantly smaller development.

"We have listened to the council members and officers.

"The site has been identified as suitable for residential development in the Council's Strategic Housing Land Availability Assessment (June 2014).

"We are keen to hear views from residents to take into account any comments before an application is submitted."

It also said proceeds from the land sale at Blenheim Palace would "contribute to the upkeep" of the World Heritage site and "ensure its long term sustainability".

Woodstock Town Council said it is due to discuss the proposals on Tuesday.

The previous application, called Woodstock East, included plans for 1,200 new homes, a new football stadium for Old Woodstock Town Football Club, a 300-space park and ride, up to 7,500sqm of employment space, a 120-unit care home and land for a new school south of Perdiswell Farm in Shipton Road – crossing the boundaries of both Cherwell and West Oxfordshire district councils.

Cherwell council received 844 objections to the plans.

At the time Cherwell councillor Simon Holland said: "We should not be building 1,200 homes in the middle of the countryside. We need to show developers that if they want to throw concrete all over country fields they should do it elsewhere."

To comment on the pre-application consultation email woodstock@torltd.co.uk by Sunday, March 6.

Doris Quick, of Albion Street, was rushed to the John Radcliffe Hospital on February 11 after a fire at her home.

Coroner Darren Salter said the cause of death was unascertained at the inquest opening at Oxford Coroner's Court in New Road.

The full inquest is due to take place on June 28.

Stolen motorbike

OXFORD: A motorbike was stolen overnight last Tuesday from Cranley Road in Headington.

The red Kawasaki Bajaj KB100 was stolen overnight and police have issued an appeal for witnesses to come forward and call 101.

Quarry plans

CHIPPING NORTON: Plans to extend the time limit to extract sand at Duns Tew Quarry, Middle Barton, near Chipping Norton, have been submitted.

Oxford reveals its Dark Blues

• The Oxford and Cambridge Boat Race squads (courtesy of Getty Images)

By Loughlan Campbell

THE teams for this year's 162nd Oxford versus Cambridge Boat Race have been announced with just four weeks left until the showdown on the River Thames.

Oxford's men's squad includes last year's winning rower Jamie Cook lining up amongst the nine-man crew, led by new team president Morgan Gerlak who rowed in last year's winning Isis reserve crew.

The squad is made up of seven British rowers and Gerlak, who is American, with a British cox in Sam Collier, who was part of the 2014 Isis winning team.

Maddy Badcot leads the women's squad as president, and last year's winning team president Anastasia Chitty is also part of the crew alongside Lauren Kedar, who won in 2014 and 2015 in the women's team.

The women's squad maintains a British influence, with six representatives in the squad in addition to Estonian Elo Luik, Dutch Joanne Jansen and Canadian Emma Lukasiewicz.

Gerlak, 22, who will sit in third, told the Guardian: "There's an incredible energy in the boathouse right now. Everyone is fully invested in the process and we're enjoying every step along the way.

"As president, I feel personally responsible for making sure we never lose sight of beating whatever crew Cambridge put out. That's the pressure that I feel."

George McKirdy, 27, of St Edmund Hall, who is running at bow for Oxford's men, said: "At the minute, everything's running like clockwork but its getting more intense as we go on."

The rowers train for four hours a day on four out of the five weekdays and have extra sessions at weekends.

From 7am to 8.20am train at the gym, usually on rowing machines, before heading out into the water in the afternoon for at least an hour and a half of rowing.

Mr McKirdy, a postgraduate student, added: "When we're doing all the training it's quite hard to have a social life and I knew coming in that it would be intense."

In an official pre-race fixture on the Championship Course last Sunday, the men were beaten narrowly by Oxford Brookes' University.

The women's squad were training in Wallingford last Friday.

Christine Wilson, head coach of the women's squad, said: "The key to winning is to do the basics exceptionally well and take advantage of the competitive opportunity presented.

"The race only happens once, and there are no heats and finals for getting it right.

"We always respect Cambridge and hope they will bring their best come race day."

The teams will take to the water on Sunday March 27 for the women's race at 3.10pm followed by the men's at 4.10pm.

Anti-social behaviour rule may be extended to waterways

NEW rules could be implemented along Oxford's rivers and streams to prevent anti-social behaviour.

Oxford City Council is planning to extend its public spaces protection orders (PSPO) along waterways.

They launched in the city centre this year and gives powers to issue fines for a number of 'anti-social' acts, including persistent begging, street drinking and busking for more than an hour in one place. Fines of up to £1,000 could be imposed on those breaching the order.

A report published on Monday said PSPOs could 'address some concerns'.

It lists the River Thames, River Cherwell, Oxford Canal, Weirs Mill Stream, Bullstake Stream, Castle Mill Stream, Osney Stream, Fiddler's Island Streams, Sheep Wash Channel and Wolvercote Mill Stream as the areas that would have the order.

It could be used to stop boat owners mooring their boats against land without the land owner's permission.

A public consultation will run from March 21 to May 6 on the council's website.

Headteacher abused schoolgirls, jury told

By Loughlan Campbell

A SCHOOLGIRL was sexually abused by her Oxfordshire headteacher and left 'borderline suicidal', Oxford Crown Court has heard.

Former Woodcote Primary School headteacher Christopher Field is on trial accused of abusing two schoolgirls between 2010 and 2012.

The 47-year-old, of Green Lane, Chieveley, denies three counts of sexual abuse, one count of causing a girl under 13 to engage in sexual activity, and one of making indecent photos of children.

• Woodcote Primary School in Reading Road, Woodcote

A friend of one of the victims told the jury the girl confided in her over a year after leaving the school.

She said: "She mentioned him taking her to his office during lunch and break times. She just mentioned it was inappropriate but she did not think it was wrong.

"She said was being told to do things, that he called her 'special'."

The friend added: "She was borderline suicidal and had not been feeling good for a long time."

The trial began last Tuesday and is earmarked to last 10 days.

Last Thursday the jury heard from two friends of one of the victims, who cannot be identified.

The other friend, who was also a pupil at the school in Woodcote, near Wallingford, told the jury Field would take the victim out of classes and approach her in the school playground before taking her back to his office.

She also said she saw Field hug the victim and touch her bottom 'around 10 times'.

She added: "She asked me if I thought it was weird, and I replied 'yes'."

Sally-Ann Hales QC, defending Field, asked the witness: "Could the fact that he touched her bottom when hugging her have been accidental?"

She replied: "No, it was during the hug. I could see it and his hand would be there for quite a long time. It was quite frequent."

The jury also heard that over Facebook the victim told her friend: "He was doing terrible things to me. I never said anything because it was difficult and I did not think anyone would believe me and it took a long time before I understood that it was wrong.

"He put his hand up my top, my skirt, kissed me.

"He did all sorts of horrible things."

Field was charged by police in May last year.

The trial continues.

100 firefighters battle blazes at two farms

ABOUT 100 firefighters tackled major blazes at two farms in Oxfordshire last week.

Crews from Didcot, Abingdon, and Wallingford battled a blaze at a building in West Hagbourne after Oxfordshire Fire and Rescue Service was called to the fire at Manor Farm in Main Street at 10pm last Thursday. They called for back-up from crews in Wantage, Goring, Eynsham, Wheatley and firefighters from Royal Berkshire Fire and Rescue Service to bring the flames under control.

At the height of the fire, 45 firefighters fought the blaze in a multi-use single-storey building. The cause of the fire is not thought to be suspicious.

Firefighters then got several calls at about 6.30am on Friday morning to a building on fire at Orpwoods Farm in Thame Road, Great Milton.

Crews from Thame, Wheatley and Slade Park found another multi-use single storey building in flames. Assistance was summoned from Rewley Road in Oxford, Wallingford, Eynsham and Buckinghamshire Fire and Rescue Service.

In total 55 firefighters brought the flames under control. The cause was again not thought to be suspicious, but is under investigation.

Man knocked out with metal bar

OXFORD: A 25-year-old man was left lying unconscious in an Oxford street after being hit repeatedly in the head with a metal rod.

The robbery took place around 9pm in Northfield Road, Headington, when the victim was attacked by three men on Friday, February 19.

The offenders then stole the victim's Samsung mobile phone.

He suffered swelling, lacerations and bruising to his face as well as an injury to his hand, and was taken to Oxford's John Radcliffe Hospital. He has since been discharged.

Investigating officer Detective Sergeant James said: "This was a particularly nasty attack and I would urge anyone who has any information at all to contact me." Call 101.

Jayden predicted death at hand of ex-boyfriend

By Loughlan Campbell

MURDERED teenager Jayden Parkinson predicted that one day her ex-boyfriend would kill her, a serious case review report has revealed.

It was examining the response by key agencies including the council, police and NHS into her disappearance, which it found to be 'fundamentally flawed'.

Jayden, 17, was murdered by her ex-boyfriend Ben Blakeley on December 3, 2013. Her body was found by police in All Saints' Church cemetery in Didcot 15 days later.

• Jayden Parkinson, 17

The review, by Oxfordshire Safeguarding Children Board published last Wednesday, ruled agencies 'did not fully understand the serious nature of the risks to Jayden'.

Blakeley, now 24, told the author of the report her death 'could have been prevented by me' and that he grew up 'angrily' in care.

He added: "Children's homes were meant to be my salvation, but it was a fight from the first day, it felt like a punishment, not a salvation."

Jayden's sister Sharday George also spoke to review authors and said her sister wanted to be with Blakeley more than with her own family.

She said: "I don't think anything would have helped as she loved him and nothing would have changed her mind.

"She told my husband that she knew one day Adult L (Blakeley) would kill her."

The review lists multiple failings by social workers and agencies in understanding risks posed to Jayden, and said too often she was not recognised as a child in need of safeguarding.

It also adds considerable information was known about the risks of Blakeley despite there being no plan of intervention.

It says Oxfordshire County Council's social services knew of Blakeley's history of violence and controlling behaviour with three ex-girlfriends.

But it also concluded Jayden's death could not have been predicted by agencies.

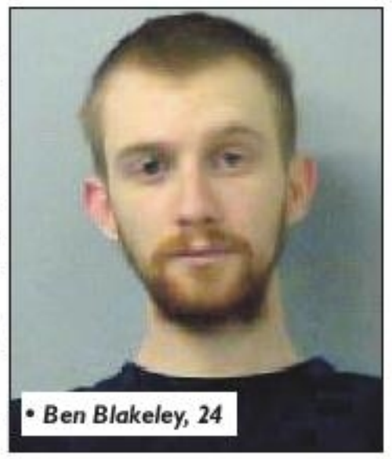
Jim Leivers, director for children's services at Oxfordshire County Council apologised for the failings.

He said: "We're deeply sorry that better support was not provided for Child J (Jayden) when she needed it most.

"We recognise that towards the end of her life we could have done more to support her and our practice was not good enough.

"I have apologised to the family...we fully accept the findings of the review."

The agencies the report lists involved with Jayden were Oxfordshire County Council's children's and social services, council-commissioned housing association BCHA, The NHS's child and adolescent mental health services, and Thames Valley Police



• Ben Blakeley, 24

Blakeley was found guilty of murder at Oxford Crown Court in July 2014 and was sentenced to life in prison.

His brother, Jake, 19, was sentenced to three years in jail last March for perverting the course of justice after helping Blakeley hide Jayden's body.

Detective Superintendent Joe Kidman, head of strategy for crime and protecting vulnerable people at Thames Valley Police, said: "Lessons learned are only as valuable as the action that we take to improve.

"Thames Valley Police has apologised to Child J's (Jayden's) mother and I want to put that sincere apology on record publicly."

Bullingdon prisoners die on same day

TWO Bullingdon Prison convicts died from heart conditions on the same day after unrelated illnesses, inquest openings into their deaths have heard.

Denis Parker, 73, insisted on returning to jail to die after being taken to hospital with a fatal illness, Oxfordshire Coroner's Court heard last Thursday.

Doctors at the John Radcliffe Hospital found his heart was failing on February 16 Oxfordshire Coroner Darren Salter said. He added Parker, a long-serving prisoner born in Reading, requested to be discharged and taken back to the prison near Bicester where he died. A preliminary cause of death was given as cor pulmonale due to chronic obstructive pulmonary disease.

On the same day Bullingdon Prison inmate Paul Byles died at the John Radcliffe Hospital after a heart attack - an inquest opening also heard.

The 48-year-old former car mechanic, from Slough, was taken to hospital after collapsing in a toilet cubicle at the prison, Mr Salter said.

Mr Salter gave a preliminary cause of death as myocardial infarction (heart attack).

Full inquests into their deaths are earmarked for August 16.

AIR CONDITIONING READY FOR SPRING

Don't forget your air con. Five reasons to service that aircon.

- INCREASED FUEL COST – systems running low on refrigeration or lubrication increase engine load means more fuel consumption
- EXPENSIVE REPAIRS – lack of service typically leads to refrigerator loss, excess moisture and poor circulation.
- TOO HOT! – As performance tails downwards the system is less able to perform as it's designed too. Such declines can be gradual so it's not always noticed right away. Look out for tell tale signs like the car taking longer to cool down on really hot days.
- POLLUTION – Clogged cabin filters can no longer capture dust, dirt or pollen as well as they should. Be sure to change these according to manufacturer service intervals and consider active carbon filters for fresher air.
- BACTERIA AND ODOUR – The dark humid evaporator is an ideal breeding ground for bacteria, fungi and micro-organisms. Whatever's in there can be blown into the car resulting in stale smells, irritation or even allergy type symptoms. Anti-bacterial service treatments can help.

New Horizons in Hearing

The new hearing aid from Widex pushes the barriers of performance. WIDEX UNIQUE takes digital processing to a new level to capture more sound than any other hearing aid on the market and is now available at Keith Donaghy Hearingcare.

Supreme sound quality in any environment.

Hearing soft sounds is particularly important for users but even more important is determining which are useful and which are not. UNIQUE is the only hearing aid that ensures important soft sounds are maintained and unwanted soft sounds are removed.

The powerful soft level noise reduction system reduces the soft sounds users do not want to hear while retaining the audibility of soft speech. And it determines the difference between speech and noise (particularly background noise) without any compromise in speech intelligibility or comfort.

The best wind noise reduction in the industry.

For users to truly enjoy being outdoors, it is essential that they can hear clearly no matter the conditions. The wind noise attenuation system in UNIQUE provides users with documented improvement in hearing speech and environmental sounds in the presence of wind noise.

Full connectivity

All unique hearing aids are compatible with the DEX range of communication accessories that provide full connectivity to mobile phones, remote controls, TVs and more.

Scared of The Dark?

• Matthieu Hauret as Orion (photo by Pamela Raith)

ORION is a scared of everything.

He is terrified of spiders, heights, wasps and storms. But the one thing he's is most scared of is The Dark.

Children's production Orion And The Dark follows the young boy who faces his fear when The Dark pays him a visit.

The show is at the Cornerstone Arts Centre in Didcot on Sunday, March 6, put on by Peaceful Lion Productions.

"Children are the best audiences in the world," said Ollie Fielding, from the theatre company.

"A young audience will be a lot more vocal if they are not enjoying the performance and that gives you an instant feedback mechanism to know if your show is any good."

Orion And The Dark is based on a book of the same name written and illustrated by Emma Yarlett in 2014.

It became a big hit with children and parents which saw the author and artist win a number of awards including the Association Picture Book Prize last May, for the four to seven years category.

She was also nominated for an Oxfordshire Picture Book Award.

Watching it on stage, children will see all their favourite characters come to life, so Ollie believes the show will live long in their memories.

By James Richings

For many of the younger members of the crowd, it could be their first experience watching a live piece of theatre.

"Being taken to the theatre as a child was such a wonderful experience for me and inspired me to pursue it as a profession," he said.

"Children have such wonderful imaginations and really enjoy watching live performance.

"I don't think it is children's theatre's role to educate, but it is very likely that children in the audience will have similar fears as Orion, and the show will hopefully resonate with some of them and I hope help them overcome their fears too.

"At Peaceful Lion, we like to make exciting theatre that just happens to appeal to younger audiences.

" ButI think our shows are enjoyable for people of all ages."

Tickets cost £8.50, or £6.50 for concessions.

The show is suitable for children over three years old.

It starts at 2pm.

Folk at Turl St

AMERICAN singer-songwriter Rachel Ries will be performing at Turl Street Kitchen with Megan Henwood in Oxford on Sunday, March 6, following the release of her latest EP.

And with three EPS and albums already to her name, the folk musician hopes the Oxford faithful will enjoy the show.

"It's extraordinary to feel the energy coming back to me from the audience and to share in these collective moments; these moments of knowing we all get it," she said.

"This will be my third show in Oxford and I've found the audiences to be particularly present, engaged and delightful."

She added: "Not to mention Megan is extraordinary and funny and, by now, a friend."

Tickets cost £7 and doors open at 7.30pm.

Covers night

LEIGHTON Buzzard-based covers band Harmony will be at the Woodstock Social Club on Saturday, March 12.

The group will be performing hits from the 60s, 70s and 80s at the Oxford Street venue.

It starts at 8pm.

Reliving the glory days

REEF will be reliving their glory days at Oxford's O2 Academy, 20 years after worldwide hit 'Place Your Hands' climbed into the charts.

By James Richings

The band stops off in the city on Saturday as part of a mammoth UK tour.

But the foursome won't just be treating fans to old classics

"We are releasing a single in March of a song called 'How I Got Over', produced by George Drakoulias, and it sounds amazing," bassist Jack Bessant told the Guardian.

"On the night, everyone will see Reef rocking out without holding back, with the added addition of Andy Wallace on keys.

"To my ears, Reef are pushing their sound to a new place and that place is the place to be."

Before making their way back into mainstream music over the last two years, the band made some changes.

One of the founding members, Kenwyn House, left the group to concentrate on his new band Goldray in April 2014.

He has been replaced by Jesse Wood – son of The Rolling Stones guitarist Ronnie Wood.

The group hasn't released a studio album for nearly 16 years, but that hasn't stopped them enjoying huge successes, commercially and on world-wide tours

And Jack revealed why the group why the group decided to take a hiatus in 2003, following the release of their greatest hits album, 'Together'.

"We were burnt out and we needed to go away, get more grounded and find our real friends," Jack said.

"Initially we reformed to do a tour put together by our manager from the past.

"I was happy to perform with Reef again on a hits tour because I felt in a great place with other music projects I had been involved with.

"It was OK to go and do a tour."

He added: "I'm very proud of the first two albums we released.

"The first one because we were young, had great energy and were not thinking too much about everything.

"And the second album, 'Glow', was such a fantastic opportunity to go to Los Angeles in America and it was a real experience and eye-opener to work with working with George Drakoulias."

Doors open at 6pm.

Tickets cost £19.68.

A great stage of (talented) fools

'VISCERAL, cerebral, a masterpiece'; clichés bandied about in countless theatre reviews and probably dedicated to infinite adaptations of our greatest writer's ouvre.

REVIEW: ★★★★

By Alex Ballinger

As Shakespeare's 400th birthday in April fast approaches I find myself questioning if there can be a truly original variation on plays worked and reworked so many times.

Oxford's Creation Theatre has now turned their hands to trying to do just that: finding a fresh take on William's tragic tale of royalty, family and betrayal – King Lear.

An already complex play is at first made a dash more tricky as the cast of six adopt multiple characters, using props, slight costume changes or accents to mark the shift.

At first this jars, as actors converse with the alter egos on stage, whipping heads back and forth through traditional Shakespearean dialogue as they play different parts.

But as the drama unfolds the quick switches of character offer a welcome release of tension as King Lear descends into madness, with a sparkling performance from Max Gold.

Lucy Pearson bounces easily between characters a Lear's daughter Cordelia, his fool, and the unfortunate Edgar.

The show's imagining falls somewhere outside of time, torn between a collapsed Soviet State, medieval England and a European battlefield in the 1940s.

Guns and bombs meet crowns and swords as English forces resist French invasion.

While it might be near impossible to find an un-trodden angle for the Bard's creations, this reincarnation of King Lear offers one truly original treat for the avid literary enthusiast: this particular show is staged in the middle of Oxford's world famous Blackwell's bookshop.

Deep in the bowels of the Broad Street shop a stage is erected in the basement Norrington Room with the audience arranged on balconies like Roman revellers in a coliseum baying for blood.

The use of the room makes this production a candidate for the most acrobatic Shakespeare play ever staged, at times falling just short of a circus act as the cast skip from bookshelf to bookshelf and onto the five-foot high raised stage.

And the agility needed for the show did briefly overcome Michael Sheldon, who plays the incognito Lord Kent, when he hurt his foot partway through the production, leaving him with a limp for the remainder.

At first a distraction, his injury eventually played into his hands as a second character played by Sheldon, Lord Gloucester, is left beaten and bloodied, adding authenticity to the wounds.

To his credit Sheldon played to the end through wincing pain and was back on stage the following night.

In all it strikes me as tough to find an unseen view of Shakespeare's work, but Creation carried it off with chilling success.

The show is fantastic and I would recommend everyone to ditch the traditional theatre in favour of a bookshop: there is unceasing satisfaction in enjoying the greats in a temple to the art.

SENSE AND SENSIBILITY
Jane Austen's classic tale of romance and the unbreakable bond between sisters comes to life in Oxford Theatre Guild's enchanting production, adapted by Jessica Swale (Shakespeare's Globe, Out of Joint, The Watermill Theatre). Sisters Elinor and Marianne Dashwood face an uncertain future when their half-brother cheats them of their inheritance. Almost penniless in a society where wealth and status are everything, they are forced to begin a new life far from everyone they know.
While Elinor hides her true feelings for the bashful Edward Ferrars, Marianne is swept off her feet by the hero of her dreams. But all is not what it seems in matters of the heart. It is a bumpy road to happily ever after in the classic tale of the search for true love.

Kia Cee'd Sportswagon 1.0 Litre Petrol T-GDi 3 Eco

By Anthony Yates

ENGINE: My Kia Cee'd Sportswagon test car was fitted with the new 1.0 litre three-cylinder direct injection turbocharged petrol engine.

It was designed to meet the needs of the ever changing emission standards and is available with up to five engines, all of which meet EU6 emissions regulations.

In 1.0 litre form, it has a top speed of around 118mph and will get you from 0-62 in around 11 seconds.

ON THE ROAD: The Cee'd has always felt very good on the road - and the fact that you are now able to carry all those extras in the Sportswagon version can only be a good thing.

There are areas where it is not as good as some of its rivals, but I forgive it for that because for me it wins in many other areas, like how it feels on the road - and that's down to Kia fitting a very expensive independent multi-link and trailing arm type suspension.

INSIDE: Remember this is a car that only costs £21,120 on the road - that is value for money in my book.

The interior is sharp looking and appealing – but some of the buttons could have been better placed.

The driving position is also good and so is space in the rear. Boot space is this car's party piece with 510 litres of space with seats in position and 1,642 litres with seats folded.

There are also a array of standard features including; electric door mirrors, air conditioning, telescopic steering wheel adjustment, driver's seat height adjustment, 60:40 split rear seats, DAB radio, Bluetooth connectivity, ESP & vehicle stability management, hill start assist, and six air bags.

SAFETY: Kia has always focussed on being 'safety first', so standard features include; electronic stability control and vehicle stability management, ABS with electronic brakeforce distribution and brake assist system, emergency stop signalling, hill-start assist control, and tyre pressure monitoring system.

TO SUM UP: A decent car that ticks most of the boxes in terms of an estate car that doesn't cost the earth.

ADVERTORIAL

M M Bellinger & Sons

Didcot

As well as having branches in Abingdon and Grove respectively, popular Vauxhall car dealership MM Bellinger & Sons have opened a new branch located in Didcot, since August last year.

The dealership, which have just announced they have the brand new Vauxhall Astra, Corsa and Viva in stock are a family run business and are known for their excellent customer service traits, which have left many of their customers happy.

For example, the new branch which is located at 3 Milton Gate, Didcot, will allow any customers to visit any of the three dealerships for aftersales support, as it doesn't matter which MM Bellinger & Sons location you purchased your car from - you can visit any of the sites for the assistance you need.

"At MM Bellinger & Sons we pride ourselves on looking after our family of customers," Sales Manager Chris Hedges told the Guardian.

"We have generational customers that are introducing younger family members to us and it is very important to maintain that family connection."

"For MM Bellinger & Sons as a company, looking after people (not just customers) is what we have done, continue doing and will do.

"One thing we like the most about helping customers is that it is the pleasure of simple things, like the new car collection day, fixing a problem no matter how small or big or receiving a thank you."

"When our customers leave us with a smile, then we know we have done our job properly."

He also added: "Didcot is a new build, new style showroom with an all new service and MOT centre which can cater for all brands.

"It is close to the A34 and Didcot Parkway Train Station. Great range of Network Q approved used stock and a great team to meet!"

MARCH DEALS

CAR AND GARDEN MACHINERY REPAIRS SINCE 1989

AIR CONDITIONING READY FOR SPRING

Don't forget your air con. Five reasons to service that aircon.

- INCREASED FUEL COST – systems running low on refrigeration or lubrication increase engine load means more fuel consumption
- EXPENSIVE REPAIRS – lack of service typically leads to refrigerator loss, excess moisture and poor circulation.
- TOO HOT! – As performance tails downwards the system is less able to perform as it's designed too. Such declines can be gradual so it's not always noticed right away. Look out for tell tale signs like the car taking longer to cool down on really hot days.
- POLLUTION – Clogged cabin filters can no longer capture dust, dirt or pollen as well as they should. Be sure to change these according to manufacturer service intervals and consider active carbon filters for fresher air.
- BACTERIA AND ODOUR – The dark humid evaporator is an ideal breeding ground for bacteria, fungi and micro-organisms. Whatever's in there can be blown into the car resulting in stale smells, irritation or even allergy type symptoms. Anti-bacterial service treatments can help.

- Book major service & MOT, get the MOT for just £20!
- Book an interim service & MOT, get the MOT for just £30!

U's boss: York win is 'pivotal' for campaign

By Loughlan Campbell

OXFORD UNITED boss Michael Appleton declared the U's 4-0 win over York City as a 'pivotal' moment in the club's season.

United swept the lowly relegation-threatened side away in swift fashion on Tuesday night to make it three wins on the trot for Oxford.

The result came on the night that Plymouth Argyle slipped up in a 1-0 defeat to Barnet meaning that Appleton's boys have climbed to second ahead of their crunch encounter with the Pilgrims on Saturday.

Following the result, Appleton said: "This certainly could be a pivotal night for the club's season.

"To get this win as convincingly as we did was pleasing and I know it will give everyone a boost of confidence ahead of Saturday's game.

"We've given ourselves an opportunity here. Football is all about timing and it's a fantastic time to go on a winning run so we don't want to let this slip."

Jordan Bowery made it six goals in six starts for Oxford with the opening goal in the rout and he also came under praise from his manager.

He said: "When we'd brought him in we'd hope that he'd do a good job and he grabbed another goal tonight so he'll be delighted with his contribution."

Bowery's goal was followed by a Chey Dunkley header before Danny Hylton and Kemar Roofe rounded out the scoring for the home side.

The former Aston Villa forward said: "I'm here at the right place at the right time. I said that I've got to believe in myself when I came here but I did not expect it to go this well!"

In terms of the 24-year-old's goal on the evening where he seemed to knee the ball into net from a yard out, he added: "I don't think I've ever scored a goal like that! When I hit it I thought it was going over but it crept in so I'm delighted."

Oxford United's crunch encounter with third-place Plymouth takes place at Home Park on Saturday, kicking off from 3pm.

The Villagers break Titans' 18-month home streak

CHINNOR RFC destroyed an 18-month unbeaten home record at Taunton Titans in a 26-15 win.

The Oxfordshire side were up for it from the off and snatched a try in five minutes when Ben Manning crossed over and Sam Angell added the conversion.

Another driving maul allowed Junior Fatialofa to coast through and a Angell converted try led to Chinnor taking a 14-0 lead.

Taunton roared into life and centre Freddie Fraser dived over for an unconverted try before a penalty just after the half-time whistle brought the scores to 14-8.

A quickly-taken penalty then saw Titans number eight Sam Prior burst through for a converted try as Taunton took the lead.

However, their lead did not last long as the Villagers' forwards rampaged at the Taunton defence and Oscar Heath wriggled his way through to cross for a 19-15 lead.

Five minutes later, Chinnor took a big leap towards victory after Jamie Townsend climbed through the tackles and over the line for a fourth Chinnor try before Angell converted to seal the win.

Witney's Oxon Cup run ends with Henley contest

WITNEY RFC were denied a place in the Oxfordshire Cup Final despite pushing Henley RFC all the way in a 22-20 defeat.

Henley got off to a great start with Tommy Haines snatching an unconverted try inside ten minutes before the Blues struck back through 2nd row Scott Mortimer who burst through the ranks to grab an unconverted try.

Fly-half Henry Lamb then missed a penalty for the Blues before Henley's Captain Louis Flynn broke through the lines after a lineout to cross under the post for a converted try.

Before the end of the half there was still time for Lamb to make it 12-8 with a penalty.

Following the break, Witney started well with a series of scrums leading to a superb team move ending with Jake Thomas touching over as the Blues took the lead through an unconverted try.

However, Henley soon hit back through left wing Daley Armen who touched down by the left and soon afterwards the visitors made it 22-12 when Flynn went over again.

Witney were not finished and fought back to retain the ball with prop Mark Fuller crashing over the line and Lamb converted to make it 22-20.

It wasn't enough as Henley ground out the result to seal the victory in the Oxfordshire derby.

ADVERTORIAL

The Changing Face Of Men's Wedding Attire

British wedding habits have changed rapidly during the last few years, and this evolvement continues into 2016.

- The average wedding now costs over £16,000
- The trend for cupcakes is falling out of favour, being replaced with trends like cheese towers.
- Purple is the most popular bridesmaids dress colour
- 18% of newlyweds now honeymoon in the UK and 34% in Europe

These changes are also reflected in what the groom is opting to wear on his big day. At The Cotswold Tailor we have noticed big shifts in demand in both our hire department and our bespoke tailoring service, when it comes to wedding suits.

In 2015 we rented out not a single frock coat, and demand for morning coats fell significantly. When we did rent out a morning coat, more often than not the groom has opted to move away from traditional wedding waistcoats, and instead replaced these with tweed (see picture right).

Noticeably with both my bespoke and hire wear clients, there has been a shift towards: more tailored, three piece, slim-fit, lounge suits, particularly brighter blue shades. With many of my bespoke clients pointing out the benefits of getting frequent use out of the lounge suit post the wedding.

Possibly the biggest trend, however, has been in the rising popularity of tweed. As country/natural themed weddings have grown in popularity so too has the demand for both three piece tweed suits, but also the more relaxed look of a pair of chinos paired with tweed waistcoats and tweed jacket. This look has become so popular that 2016 has seen us launch an entire new hire wear range dedicated to tweed.

Ex-City CEO's guilty plea to $6.6m fraud charges

By Loughlan Campbell

A FORMER Oxford City director has pleaded guilty to running a $6.6 million fraud conspiracy, according to reports.

Thomas Guerriero, 39, of Hillsboro Beach, South Florida, pleaded guilty to one count of conspiring to commit mail and wire fraud on Monday at a federal court in Miami.

He has agreed to pay $6.6m in restitution and to forfeit homes he owns on the Hillsboro Mile in Boca Raton and Deerfield Beach, as part of the plea agreement.

Guerriero faces a maximum penalty of 20 years in federal prison.

According to the Sun Sentinel newspaper, prosecutors are expected to dismiss the other charges, which include witness tampering and obstruction of justice.

Guerriero came under investigation by the FBI and the US Securities and Exchange commission last year and has been in jail since December with all his assets frozen.

The plea agreement he signed read: "Based on his conduct, Guerriero personally received more than $1,500,000 but less than $3,500,000 in ill-gotten gains."

Investigators said the fraud was carried out between July 2013 and July 2015, with more than 150 victims from all over the US.

Telemarketing sale agents claimed the company, Oxford City Football Club inc, owned $90 million worth of real estate, the Oxford City Football Club team in Texas, and an online university with 10,000 students enrolled.

Oxford City FC released a statement last December stating that Guerriero had resigned due to concerns about his health.

It said that he had been 'seriously unwell' for several months and had recently endured repeated surgery.

Freds ease drop fears with win

WANTAGE TOWN eased relegation fears with a first win in six on Tuesday over fellow basement boys Burnham FC at Alfredian Park.

Stuart Cattell's boys came back from a goal down early in the first half as former Didcot Town forward Mark Francis fired a brace for the Freds.

Burnham took an early lead on ten minutes before Wantage's new signing Francis fired low nine minutes later to make things even.

Later on in the half, Sam Barder eased fans' fears as he netted to give Wantage the lead in the game as the side headed in to a half-time break.

Straight into the second half both sides evenly battled it out in a must-win game for either teams.

Just after the hour mark Francis gave Wantage some breathing space, grabbing his second goal as the Freds pushed forward.

However, the visitors would not go down without a fight and Jermaine Gumb stepped up to snatch a second for Burnham to force a very tense final ten minutes.

Luckily for Cattell his side managed to fend off the Blues to open up an eight point gap between the two sides with Burnham occupying one of two relegation places in 21st.

Wantage face a hard grind of fixtures next with a trip to title chasers Cinderford Town on Saturday at 3pm before hosting Winchester City next Saturday also at 3pm.

Oxford United bag four in York rout

OXFORD UNITED climbed to second in League Two after routing lowly York City 4-0 at the Kassam Stadium on Tuesday.

Jordan Bowery should have grabbed the opener inside the opening minute after Danny Hylton's skillful flick-on was turned wide by the forward.

Hylton then could have set up Bowery for a tap-in shortly afterwards but he laid the ball across goal instead and then the number ten turned an effort onto the post.

The opener came from a Callum O'Dowda shot was palmed away by City 'keeper Michael Ingham before Bowery kneed the ball into the net.

Ingham had to make a triple save in the second half to deny Oxford a second but his goal creaked again on 72 minutes as Chey Dunkley powered a header home.

Seven minutes later it was three after Hylton flicked the ball over his man and then blasted a shot through Ingham's legs.

There was still time for substitute Kemar Roofe to bag a fourth after he tapped in following Josh Ruffels' earlier effort as the forward made his comeback from injury to seal United's third consecutive league win in a row.

City's winless draw extended to seven

OXFORD CITY extended their winless run to seven with a goalless draw away at Gosport Borough in the National League South on Saturday.

The stalemate means City's bid to secure promotion this season is dangerously teetering on the edge as they lie five points away from the play-off spaces.

City headed into the tussle without influential trio David King, Reece Fleet and Kynan Isaac and also had to contend with Alejandro-Adrian Santiago and Marlon Jackson being out with injury.

Gosport started strongly but Oxford were more than up for the encounter as Paul Stonehouse put an effort over the bar following a stunning pass from Carlos Pifarre-Forner.

Oxford 'keeper Laurie Walker was then called into action to deny Gosport's Rory Williams who fired an effort in from the left.

Justin Merritt's men were up for the fight and Matt Whichelow's free-kick was very nearly headed into the net through Lee Henderson.

Walker was then called into action again to block a George Barker effort before Darren Pond smashed an effort straight into Gosport 'keeper Nathan Ashmore's arms in a strong attacking move.

City came away from the draw knowing that they simply have to start winning in order to have any chance of promotion, starting with their tie against Bath City at Marsh Lane on Saturday.

Greens snatch victory after FA Vase defeat

KIDLINGTON FC banished their 4-0 FA Trophy defeat to Bowers & Pitsea with a 1-0 win over AFC Longlevens in the Hellenic Premier League on Tuesday night.

The Greens put their disappointment behind them as they secured the victory though a penalty from Lewis Coyle as they maintained their push for the title.

They spurned several good opportunities in the first half but Longlevens' 'keeper Ollie Hall managed to keep the away side at bay.

Into the second half the Greens continue their assault on the home sides' goal and when Ryan Brooks was brought down in the box, Kidlington's Coyle stepped up to the spot.

The forward smashed the ball home to send the Greens into the lead.

The goal tally could have easily been increased as Martin Wilkinson's side pushed on and spurned several opportunities.

The win lifts them to third in the table on 60 points with just ten points off leaders Thatcham Town with the greens also having four games in hand.

The Greens are at home to Brimscombe & Thrupp on Saturday at Yarnton Road knowing that a win will give them the confidence to truly cement a title challenge which a win would kickstart.

Magnussen targets long runs in testing

RENAULT Sport Formula One Team put in a strong performance on the first day of the second pre-season test on Tuesday after completing 119 laps in Barcelona.

The Enstone-based team focused on aero work and reliability runs with Kevin Magnussen behind the Renault's wheel.

By Adam Flinn

While he only set the 10th-fastest time on Tuesday's running with a fastest lap of 1:25.760, the Dane said he was happy with the car's performance.

He said: "It was another strong day with lots of laps completed.

"There's a positive feeling with this car but equally we know where we need to make improvements and that's what we're working towards.

"It's great to be able to get so much mileage for myself and the team as we can really make good progress."

Magnussen managed to improve his laptime in yesterday's running, ending the day third with a fastest lap of 1:23:933.

Nick Chester, Renault's chassis technical director, added: "Tuesday was a pretty good day for us with the car running reliably and completing 119 laps.

"We were able to work on both front and rear suspension setup as well as aero data logging, which will give us further direction for the remainder of the test.

"All of Tuesday's programme was completed so there is a satisfying amount of data to process."

Magnussen's team-mate Jolyon Palmer is set to take over testing duties for the final two days of running today and tomorrow.

After that the teams will then head off to Australia for the first round of the 2016 season, taking place at Albert Park in Melbourne on March 20.
